MISS HELEN VLYMAN TO ACT AS MANAGER OF THE STAMP SALE

Makes Urgent Appeal to Business Men to Aid in Campaign by Giving Local Prizes.—Stamps Here Tomorrow.

Miss Helen Vlyman of the high school faculty will manage the campaign for the sale of the Christmas stamps issued by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis society, and will be assisted by Miss Lucile Cuyler and Prof. D. D. Manross in the work in this city.

Miss Vlyman stated today that the stamps would be here tomorrow, and that the work of selling them would begin at once. She plans to have the stamps on sale at all the stores downtown and will organize a system among the school children.

It is the plan at present to secure a list of local prizes which will be donated by the Janesville merchants to boys and girls in the public schools selling the largest number of stamps, or to newboys, or other persons, which with the prizes will be designated later. An urgent appeal is made to the merchants of the city to aid in the campaign. In speaking of the plans today Miss Vlyman said:

"I am anxious to have the merchants take hold of the matter and hope that they will find it possible to give toward our local prize list. Any of the merchants who can offer anything toward this most worthy cause may communicate with myself or one of my assistants and we will discuss our plans more definitely. We are anxious to stimulate the sale of the stamps in this city, and have the hope of bettering the excellent record which was made last year. With hearty cooperation on the part of the citizens of Janesville I am sure we shall succeed."

Dr. Williams has advised the plan of local prizes as a most effective one and is working to get a system here. She plans to add the local managers in every way that she can during the remainder of time which she will spend here.

FAILS TO KEEP HIS PROMISE TO LEAVE

"Baldy" Jackson Given Half an Hour To Get Out of City, Stays Instead.—Gets Fourteen Days.

Humble and crestfallen, without a word to say in his defense, John ("Baldy") Jackson pleaded guilty in the municipal court this morning to a charge of intoxication. Saturday morning he appeared there to answer to a similar charge. He pleaded with the judge to let him go, promising to leave town and stay away. Judge Fifield told him that he did not have any faith in him, but he reiterated his promise so decidedly that the judge finally agreed to discharge him if he would leave town inside of half an hour. But "Baldy" stuck, paused for a final glance, and then another one, and last evening was again in the toils of the police. Because of his breach of faith Judge Fifield gave a longer sentence than would otherwise have been pronounced—fourteen days in the county jail.

Fritz Bergstrom was sentenced to ten days imprisonment for drunkenness, in default of a fine of five dollars and costs. Bergstrom was picked up by the police lying on the porch of a Center avenue house where he had lain down to rest with the snow falling even then. He declared that he was sick, and the people of the house by his conversation with visionary persons whom he saw in his spirituous dreams.

BENJAMIN BLEASDALE PASSES THIS LIFE

Resident of Rock County Since 1845 Died at His Home in This City Yesterday Morning.

On Sunday morning at 9:30 at his residence, 214 Madison street, Benjamin Bleasdale passed from this to the life beyond. In his passing his wife loses a devoted husband, his friends a wise counselor, and the county a loyal and trusted citizen.

The deceased was born in Leeds, England, January 3, 1829, and at the age of sixteen came to America and settled in the town of Rock with his father and mother, two brothers and three sisters. Of this family of eight only two remain, Joseph, now living in Liverpool, England, and Mrs. D. Schreiner of Darlington. Since 1845 he has watched and aided the development of the county, first as a farmer on the old homestead, and later in this city after he retired from active physical work.

Mr. Bleasdale was married to Fannie A. Burton, in June 1864, by whom he has survived.

Funeral services will be held at his late residence on Tuesday at 2 p. m., and will be attended by relatives and close personal friends. No flowers.

FUND NOW NEARING THE TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS FIGURES

Benefit Performance at the Myers Theatre Brought in $1,177.75. Many Have Not Paid Subscriptions.

At three o'clock this afternoon the fund for the benefit of the cyclone sufferers totaled $9,516.53. This included $1,177.75 received this morning as the results of the benefit entertainment given at the Myers theatre last Monday evening under the direction of Mrs. Day. Boldt has furnished two thousand dollars of this total amount and has five hundred dollars more to be sent in. Several smaller benefits are to be held throughout the county this coming week and many of those who subscribed sums ranging from twenty to fifty dollars have not as yet sent in their checks for the amount so that the total the committee hopes will reach ten thousand dollars. A large box of bedding was sent to the sufferers by the Pythian Sisters of Rockburg, which has been thankfully received and will be distributed according to the needs. The committee held an executive session last Friday and ordered the disbursement of money to several families in need of immediate aid. They find use for all monies contributed and trust that the work of collecting will not stop now.

WANTED: EIGHT MORE MARRIAGE LICENSES

That Number Will Bring The Total To 365, or an Average of One License For Each Day During Year.

Only eight more marriage licenses need to be issued before Dec. 31, 1911, to make the total number for the year 365, or an average of one matrimonial permit for each day in the year which breaks the record for Rock county. Three hundred and fifty-eight licenses have been issued at the office of the county clerk during the term of office of the present incumbent, Howard W. Lee, and undoubtedly is the largest number in the history of the office. According to Mr. Lee's statement there need be no fear that the eight licenses required will not be secured, for this is a very popular time of the year for matrimonial ventures and the total number of licenses will probably be swelled substantially beyond the needed 365.

Disappointment, however, would be very keen in county official circles should the required eight be lacking at the end of the year. For several months past the mentioned number has been set as the goal to be reached and with present indications so favorable it would be surprising if the small number needed should fall short.

STATE GAME WARDEN ASKS FOR HUNTING CASUALTIES

Shotts, has written letters to the county clerks asking for reports on the conditions in their respective counties. County Clerk Lee received a communication to this effect today. JAKE PAPPAS PLEADS GUILTY TO OFFENSE

Changes Plea First Entered When Charged With Keeping Device On His Premises.

Jake Pappas, proprietor of the confectionery store at 418 Milwaukee street, changed his former plea of "not guilty to guilty" this morning when arraigned in the Municipal Court on the charge of keeping a gambling device in the form of a nickel slot machine on his premises. In view of the fact that Pappas is but one of three scores of similar offenders in the city who are unmolested because of public indifference and willful toleration, and that the complaint was made for another reason than the one formally stated, Judge Fifield imposed a light fine of $5 and costs.

The complaint in the case was made by tenant officer S. C. Burnham, because Pappas permitted minors and school boys to play the machines and lounge around his premises. The latter has not been made the subject of any further complaints of that nature since his arrest some weeks ago, and has given assurance that will not make himself liable to any more. He declares that the boys did more damage around the place than their trade was worth, and referred to their breaking one of his show cases.

Following the conviction of Pappas, Chief of Police George Appleby made the statement that he would today notify in person every proprietor of a pool room and cigar store in Janesville that if they permitted minors to play their slot machines they would be prosecuted and their machines confiscated, and that he would also prosecute those who allowed minors to play pool and billiards. He has had so many complaints from parents and school teachers of the violation of the ordinance prohibiting these offenses that he has decided it is time to take immediate and drastic action.

TELLS OF INCIDENTS IN FORTY YEARS AGO

George J. Kellogg Writes from Lake Mills About Almost Forgotten Incident.

In the following letter from Gen. J. Kellogg, at his home in Lake Mills the writer tells his part in an incident related in the Forty Years Ago column in the Gazette, November 27th. Mr. Kellogg writes:

Ed. Gazette: In November 27th, 40 years ago the mention of the fire in Frank Wolman's front window brings to my mind that while Mr. W. was looking after his wife's burns I was passing and stopped inside, pulled out a big cheap overcoat and in a few sweeps up and down the window I put the fire out. Mr. W. did not know for a number of days who it was that saved him. He never could be thankful enough for he had $400.00 hid under the window that was paid in after the bank closed that day.

Winter it seems has come, still I hope it will thaw out so as to release the thousands of boats that are not pulled. It is very unusual for it to close in the 12th of November and stay. Every man that has an apple tree wants to see that it is wrapped from the rabbits and if the trees were not mounded with earth before it froze up protect the base of the tree by wrapping it snow stays on the snow hard about the tree.

Prune all kinds of nappies before the 1st of February. All other trees from the 1st of March to the 1st of April. If grapes are not pruned prune them now. Gen. J. Kellogg.

MEMBERS OF WILLOWDALE SCHOOL BOARD AT MEETING.

Members of the school board of the Willowdale district met in the office of the county superintendent this afternoon for the purpose of discussing matters relative to the securing of supplies to enable them to open school in the store building at Willowdale until a new building can be erected to replace the structure destroyed by the cyclone. It is planned to open the school next Monday if possible. The members of the board stated that a school meeting would be called soon to vote on the matter of building a new schoolhouse. The building destroyed was only two years old and was very well equipped. There were nearly forty pupils who attended school there.

UNITED DOCTORS OPENING POSTPONED

PART OF OFFICE EQUIPMENT DELAYED IN SHIPMENT. THE REASON.

READY FOR PATIENTS SOON Was Hoped That Institute Could be Opened to the Public Tuesday.

As was announced in these columns Saturday, it was hoped that the United Doctors' New Janesville Institute, on the fourth floor of the Hayes building, corner of Milwaukee and Main streets, could be opened to receive patients Tuesday morning, but on account of part of the office equipment being delayed in shipment the opening is delayed. It is now thought the institute will be opened to receive patients Thursday, Dec. 7. Definite announcement as to the date of opening will appear in these columns.

The equipment of a United Doctors' Institute is an elaborate one. Many instruments known to science for the diagnosis and cure of disease are to be found there. There are powerful microscopes, testators, centrifuges, etc., besides a number of instruments used by the members of the United Doctors, the use of which is little known to other doctors. One of the greatest secrets of the success of these specialists in curing diseases is their expert knowledge of medical diagnosis. So complete is their knowledge of the human body that, often, by the aid of their instruments, they are able to diagnose a case, describing and locating every ache and pain, without asking the patient a single question.

The treatment used by the United Doctors is non-surgical. They never use the knife, never mutilate the body which God built in His image. Only the best and purest drugs and chemicals are used by these specialists. Their motto being that every sick person is entitled to the best medicine that is to be found in nature, regardless of cost. To obtain pure drugs, they prepare all of their medicines in their own laboratory, and every patient is thus assured a pure medicine, the best obtainable, regardless of cost.

The specialist who will be in charge of the Janesville Institute announces that in order to introduce this new system of curing diseases in this state, a limited number of patients will be cured free. The grand free offer is as follows: All cases accepted for treatment before Dec. 20, will be treated free of charge until they are well. Examination will be free, and treatment is free; the only charges made will be for the bare cost of the medicine used, each patient being expected to pay cash for his medicines. In cases of very poor persons the medicines will be furnished free also.

The United Doctors' object in making this grand offer is to secure a few supposedly incurable cases in each community to show the people what this wonderful new and scientific method of treatment will do, even after all other doctors have failed. They realize that as soon as the people are able to see for themselves they will not hesitate to pay big fees for treatment that will really cure disease. This is not a catch-penny offer, but a genuine offer of free treatment until cured. Examination, consultation and all work of these specialists is free—the only charge is for medicines. The United Doctors solicit difficult cases; they solicit cases that have failed of a cure by all other methods.

This is really very remarkable and generous offer by these great specialists. It is not an offer of free treatment for a few weeks, but free treatment regardless of the length of time. This offer is good only in cases accepted up until Dec. 20. After that date full regular fees will be charged to all.

Consultation and examination is free to all, but only curable cases will be accepted for treatment. If your case is incurable you will be told so, and not one penny of your money accepted. However, many cases that are incurable by old methods can be quickly cured by this wonderful new treatment of the United Doctors.

The diseases treated by the United Doctors are the chronic diseases of blood, nerves, kidneys, liver and stomach, including rheumatism, constipation, neuritis, nervousness, loss of nerve force, catarrh, gonorrhea, gall stones, diseases of women and diseases of men.

The elaborate instruments used in diagnosis and the extreme care used in securing pure drugs and preparing them specially for each case make the treatment used by the United Doctors more expensive than ordinary treatments, yet the large number of patients treated makes it possible to place the price of treatment within the reach of all.

GIFT SUGGESTIONS

By Rosa Torrell.

Of course no woman wants to wear a hat to the theater. She couldn't if she did, but she does get around the editor in a measure as witness the many charming little caps now being worn. These are most charming on young heads, however, as they have a decidedly round motherly appearance above older faces. Only the softest of materials are used. Thin blonde net, in white or cream, is a favorite material and is gathered into a simple little mob cap—a dainty cap glorified. The edge is finished with a soft twist of satin ribbon in any becoming color, and the side is decorated with an ornament of crystal beads or a cluster of flowers. Heads are used freely and one beautiful and simple cap was recently very elaborate. The net was sewed to fit like a small cap and a wide meshed gold fabric drawn over that. Heads in soft colors were thickly sewn over the whole and the edges were finished with a row of small pearls. There is not variety in the shapes but an infinite variety in colors and materials. Keep the cap simple and dainty—that is the principle regulate—and you will make some girl's heart beat with happiness on Christmas morning.

Do not forget the little ones in the hospitals and homes, and it will do well if you remember some of these little ones who have parents too proud to ask for help. Do not be afraid. We are so timid sometimes and then at others we are so hard. I have seen poor working women standing listening to lectures from women better off in the world when my blood would rise to fever heat. Do your charity work charitably. Do not leave out the Christ spirit when giving "in His name."

A group of young people are making scrap books for a children's home. They are pasting gay pictures of animals and people on colored cardstock and tying them together. This is not new, but they cut the pages across so that the child may have the fun of matching various heads on the bodies. To make them come right, a little care must be taken but the result is amusement pays.

Do your shopping early so that the rush to the last will not take all the Christmas joy out of some tired girl's heart. Buy all the ribbons for tying bundles and the tissue paper in which you intend to wrap them now. One girl is covering boxes to hold her gifts. She takes strong pasteboard boxes and covers them with wall paper. This may be had in tapestry designs in delicate colors and the gift is greatly enhanced by the beauty of the box.

Use delicate colored tissue paper. Nothing is prettier than white tied with the Christmas colors. Write the message and tie up each parcel as it is prepared. All the talk about the delight of the last Christmas rush is nonsense. You need not fear that you will have finished so completely you will miss the joy of the last Christmas rush. You are sure to forget something or other and so, have to rush down town at the last minute, but be as nearly ready as possible so that you may really enjoy the one great holiday!

ENDORSES POSITION OF SECRETARY FREAR

Elliott Flower, Well Known Writer, Declares That Views On Canadian Emigration Are Correct.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 4.—Secretary of State James A. Frear's public utterances protesting against Canada's extensive campaign to alienate Wisconsin settlers have been known from Elliott Flower, a well known writer of the city, a letter strongly endorsing the secretary's position. Mr. Flower recently traveled in western Canada. He told Mr. Frear that the latter's exposition of the emigration situation is not only true but understates rather than overstates the case. Mr. Flower added:

"Americans to the number of 644,386 emigrated to Canada during the eleven years ending March 31, 1911, and 121,461 of these emigrated in the last of these years. This was an increase of over 100 per cent over the figure for 1909. A similar percentage of increase for the next two years will make the total for 1913 approximately 250,000 and will bring the total for 1912 very close to the 200,000 you mention. As a matter of fact however, the percentage of increase is steadily growing larger, so the 200,000 estimate for 1913 is a most reasonable one. The increase over 1901 is over 600 per cent."

It should be remembered, too, that the ready-made farm, which is by far the most attractive of the Canadian propositions, is not now open to Americans. This is a new farm prepared for occupancy, all the necessary buildings being erected, the ground broken and part of it seeded before the settler takes possession. This, too, is on irrigated land where crops are certain. The Canadian Pacific has three of these ready-made farm colonies now and will open a fourth about half way between Medicine Hat and Calgary in 1912. At the present time these can be acquired only by immigrants from Great Britain, but there is every reason to believe that this restriction will be removed during the coming year, and that will certainly make a considerable increase in the American total. Even now forty per cent of the immigration is American, and in home and entries the Americans lead all other nationalities."

Secretary Frear wants this subject taken up as an independent issue by the newspapers. One man wrote him there was no use in combating this question because the newspapers would do nothing except for money and that no particular efforts at publicity would be successful. Much has been done by newspapers recently, however, in showing up Canadian methods in Wisconsin.

Secretary Frear said that it is probable that congress may be asked to help to stem the tide against Canadian emigration.

Many of the "KYS-MAKS" and "BURMA" are especially designed to meet the demand for patterns and colors to match the simplicity of mission tables, chairs, sideboards, plate racks, clocks, candelabras and the plain color scheme of the walls.

They are reversible—both sides equally attractive—are hard, stiff, long wearing rugs that never wrinkle or "kick up" at the ends or corners.

Patterns are either entirely plain with broad striped border, or have centers and borders of simple mission figures.

The mission idea is carried out in the colors too—each rug being of one, two, three or four tones of self color.

Everybody who has a den, dining room, or library they take pride in, should see these rugs now.

Come in all sizes.

Prices:
"KYSMAK" $3.00 to $7.00.
"BURMA" $6.50 to $20.00.

In bringing the engineering profession into a share of that prominence and leadership now largely held by men in other walks of life, the sessions of the meeting will begin tomorrow and continue until Saturday. Dr. A. C. Humphreys, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will preside.

It has respect for law, but it is not a product of American soil and its doctrines are not adapted to our free institutions.

Sympathy for the McNamara caused the seeds of socialism to sprout and grow in Los Angeles, as well as throughout the state. People of every other political creed were willing to wait patiently for a fair and impartial trial, simply demanding justice.

What the people demand today, regardless of creed, is that the men behind the crime be apprehended, tried and punished.

STEFFINS IN THE LIMELIGHT.

"What are we Americans going to do about conditions which are breeding up healthy, good tempered boys like these McNamara boys really to believe, as they most sincerely do—they and a growing group of labor—that the only recourse they have for improving the conditions of the wage worker is the use of dynamite against property and life?"

"This paragraph from the pen of Lincoln Steffins introduces an article so full of sentimental twaddle that the writer is being cleverly denounced, all over the country. Steffins went to Los Angeles, a time ago, and organized a committee of business men for the purpose of persuading the McNamara to plead guilty before the trial in the interests of business and humanity. He now takes full credit for what has been done, and talks about the self-convinced men as healthy, goodtempered boys. The Chicago Tribune, in commenting, editorially, says:

"To humanitarian like Steffins, to men like Darrow, who would defend a man who had taken life outside the law, but would not defend the state in taking life within the law, the gallows may be a brutal, pitifully intelligent solution of these problems, but it teaches wholesome lessons.

"It teaches that murder, whether murder by the footpad or by the labor agitator, is more than a misdemeanor, more than an indiscretion, more than an argument which may be applied to correct economic mistakes in the distribution of wealth, more, even, than a mere incident in the progress of humanity.

"It teaches that murder is punished by death. Until we find a more effective, more wholesome teacher than this one, we'll have to use it."

Steffins is the man who raked much as long as his rake held out; the man who came to Wisconsin and maligned the fair name of the state and traduced the character of ex-Senator John C. Spooner.

He is a brilliant writer, but his last effort on Murder as a Fine Art," is ill-considered and will do him more harm than good.

PASTOR RUSSELL'S LIBEL SUIT.

Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, whose sermons are widely read in all parts of the land, has sued the Brooklyn Eagle for $100,000 libel. The suit is causing a great deal of comment, because of the character of the paper, which has long been recognized as one of the cleanest papers in the country.

It seems that Pastor Russell became interested in a new brand of wheat, which was very prolific, and which was named "Miracle Wheat" on that account. The officers of his church permitted a promoter to handle this grain in one of the basement rooms, where it was sold for seed at one dollar per pound, the church sharing in the benefits to aid the tract society.

The Brooklyn paper denounced the scheme as a fake, and accused the pastor for responsibility. In the last issue of Mr. Russell's paper, he gives a history of the wheat, and charges the Brooklyn Eagle with carrying out the slandering policy which he says the paper has long pursued. This is what he has to offer. The outcome of the suit will be watched with interest.

"I have nothing to do with 'Miracle Wheat.' I am not in the wheat business in any sense or degree. The Eagle is merely following out its magazine and slandering policy, which it has toward me since my coming to Brooklyn. Slander, misrepresentation and vilification seem to be the policy of The Eagle for some years—a very different policy, I understand, from the one which gave it its reputation originally. My friends tell me that its course toward me is much the same that it pursued toward Dr. Talmage. Indeed, one Baptist minister remarked, 'The filthy Eagle killed Dr. Talmage—literally. He died of a broken heart.' I know nothing about that, but I do know that The Eagle has not killed me and I do not propose to let it."

"But, Pastor Russell, was there not some wheat sold at the Tabernacle, and was it not called 'Miracle Wheat'?"

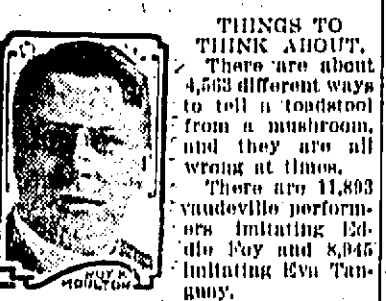

"Contrary to our wishes, a reporter of The Eagle purchased one pound of 'Miracle Wheat' at the Tabernacle. He bought it from Mr. Bohmet's representative, who obtained the privilege of using a basement room at the Tabernacle for preparing the wheat to be sent out by mail in pound packages. Mr. Bohmet had promised that the proceeds of his wheat would be donated to our Free Tract fund for sending out the Bible message in all languages. Mr. Bohmet has an interest in a farm in Pennsylvania on which he grew this 'Miracle Wheat.'"

The Christian Science Monitor, the cleanest daily published in this or any other country, is out with an eight section Thanksgiving number which is a credit to the publishers. The "Monitor" has passed the experimental stage, and demonstrated the fact the American reading constituency is not all yellow.

It is gratifying to know that the government will take a hand in searching for the men, higher up who instigated the Los Angeles crime. Detective Burns has thus far worked alone, and against great odds. It will be worth something to him to know that he has at least the moral support of the administration.

THE PURPORT OF THE MOMENT

According to the latest reports there are 78,000 preparations to make the hair come out, and they all make the hair come out, too.

Speaking editors can converse in all languages, excepting English. Patrons will accomplish wonders in the training of dumb beasts. There is a farmer down in Indiana who has got four huspans trained to act as rubber trees on his bucky.

There are not more than seventeen Kaufmann's writing high brow editorials at the present time. Discarded electric light globes are valuable. The air in them can be saved up and used for the inflation of automobile tires.

There are believed to be no less than 400 oldest Odd Fellows in this country. Nineteen personal body servants of the late George Washington, died in Virginia in one week recently. The marriage marriage race between Lillian Russell and Nat Goodwin is believed to be on its last lap. Paris gown will stop a headache.

THE SYSTEM.

It isn't what you make, my boy. But what you save that counts. The folks that scrimp and sacrifice have dough in large amounts. We've often heard from wise old heads.

This bit of sage advice: The fellow who hangs on to his Will always have the price. If it costs ten a week to live And you are making eight, Hang onto all your surplus, lad. And then, as sure as fate It is a very patent fact, Ere many decades lapse You'll be a multi-millionaire That is to say, perhaps.

FROM THE HICKORYVILLE CLARION.

T. Wellington Hanks has borrowed two axen pillows from his neighbor to put in the shoulder of his sweater, and cut his clothes off the bottom of his pants, and is now all equipped for another successful year at college.

There may be fellows who know more than the clerk in the cigar store in a town of 1,200, but they have never come across my range of vision. In this day and age, it is a good plan to get all you can, and can all you get.

Mrs. Hanks Purdy thought she heard a burglar in the house the other night, and she was so scared that all of her hair, which was hangin' in the clothes press, turned white.

A travellin' troupe was through here one night last week, and put on an opy called "Romeo and Juliet," which was wrote by a author named Shakespeare, who is practically a row man so far as the theatregosers of those parts is concerned. The piece was not very comical in some spots, and there was almost no chorus. We do not believe that Shakespeare is up to George M. Cohan, but he may improve. Tomorrow night, "East Lynne."

They say that butter is going to be 50 cents a pound before the winter is over, but that will never affect the fittful Hickoryville, as the pound they bought last month will tide them over until spring.

Miss Mary Ann Mudeo, of our village, who used to shoot biscuits in the fittful Hickoryville, has changed her name to Mazie Tobasco, and is getting $1,500 a week on the vaudeville stage now giving impersonations of Eva Tanguay which look and sound like May Irwin.

WHEN GRANDPA FOUND THE DISH RAG IN THE STEW.

Oh, the family they was all around the table.

Oh, they was a very happy sight to see.

Oh, the relatives had come, those who were able.

And everything went smoothly as could be.

But suddenly there was an awful clatter.

Oh, it was a sad event, I say to you, When Grandpa poked around upon his platter.

And found the old wire dish-rag in the stew.

Chorus.

When Grandpa found the dish-rag in the stew, He thought it was a dainty dish as now.

And he ate the old dam thing, Oh, the sorrow it did bring, When Grandpa found the dish-rag in the stew.

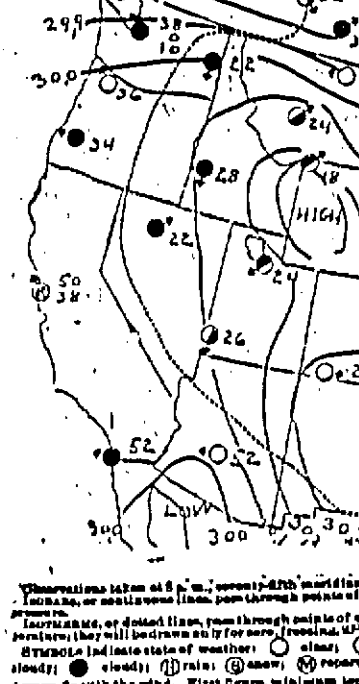

Oh, he was a good old man, the neighbors say it. He was a perfect gent, and that's no lie.

And when he'd owe a bill he'd surely pay it. Although he sometimes did it with a sigh. That wire dish-rag somehow was his undoing. He ate, then he had a quick relapse. 'Twas not the sort of rag he'd been chewing. And that may be the cause of it, perhaps.

BARGAIN AWARD TO SAFADY BROTHERS

With Offering of $3.00 Sweaters for $2.00, Store on Academy Street.

Wine Best Bargain.

Safady Brothers were awarded the best bargain last week, by a committee of ladies from the Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church, their offer being regular three dollar sweaters for two dollars.

Owing to the pressure of the holidays, and the rush both at the various business places and at this office, the bargain page will be discontinued until after the first of the year.

The sweater bargain offered by Safady Brothers was a good one and well deserved the first choice of the committee. The fact that the article was of general use and reasonable, made it doubly sure of winning the award.

FUNERAL OF FORMER RESIDENT IS HELD

Remains of John Ebbott, who formerly Resided Near Edgerton, Brought From Yankton, S. D., for Burial.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Edgerton, Dec. 4.—The remains of John Ebbott, who died in Yankton, South Dakota, on Thursday, November 30, arrived here Saturday night and were taken to the residence of Henry Ebbott, a brother. The deceased was born in Warrenton, Oregon, Aug. 20, 1855. With his parents he came to America in 1868 and for some years lived in the town of Oakland, Jefferson county, removing from there to Albion, Wis., in December, 1882. He went west to seek a fortune, settling in Dakota. Mr. Ebbott was never married and his death resulted from pneumonia contracted a few weeks ago.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Congregational church, Rev. Schoenfeld conducting the same. Interment was made in Fossitt cemetery. He leaves to mourn their loss a brother, Henry Ebbott of this city, and a sister, Mrs. Samuel Vickers, who now resides in Los Angeles, Cal.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Thanksgiving day at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Nelson in the town of Christiansburg, Dane county, when their only daughter, Clara Amanda, was united in marriage to Mr. Marlon Smithbach. The bride party were attended by Misses Lily Hanson and Minerva Ebbott, and Messrs. Arthur Smithbach and Alfred Nelson. Rev. Krohn, pastor of the East Koshkonong church, performed the ceremony. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Melvin Nelson of the high school of the bride. A four-course six o'clock dinner was served by the Misses Amanda, Josephine and Beanie Pederson of Edgerton, cousins of the bride, and Henrietta Lindved, Adeline Reuterskiold and Myrtle Hippo. The couple are both popular young people; the bride being a graduate of the Edgerton high school and the groom of the Agricultural school at Madison.

The Saturday Evening Post
Advises Land Investments for Security

HOW TO INVEST SAFELY

In the course of an article on "Your Savings—How to Invest Safely" the Saturday Evening Post in its issue of October 29, 1910, says:

"Difficult to find a better security than a productive and prosperous farm. LAND IS THE BACKBONE OF THE WORLD'S WEALTH. Good land cannot shrink; it cannot be moved away; only neglect can impair it and it is more stable than stocks in time of panic and depression. The increase in value of our farms is like a wonder story. From 1900 to 1905 the value of our farm land increased by $8,130,773,070. The total value of our farms, including the buildings upon them, is more than 22 billions of dollars.

"Here, then, is real, tangible security. The problem that the investor confronts is to get the right kind of land. Though local conditions, of course, enter into this selection, the farm should meet the following general requirements:

"It must be located in that section of the United States where the rainfall, as shown by government reports covering a long period of years, is sufficient to mature the average crop any given year—unless it is irrigated.

"These rules apply to what might be called ordinary farm lands. During the past few years there has been such activity in irrigated land that some special rules must be laid down. First of all, great care should be exercised in buying any kind of irrigated farm. The reason for this is that much territory has just been put under water and has not yet proved its productiveness. The four principal rules to be observed are these:

"First. The soil should be free from alkali.

"Second. There must be accessibility to transportation facilities.

"Third. There must be enough settlers in the region to make communities possible.

"Fourth. The water-right should be absolutely unimpaired. This is perhaps the most important consideration, for without adequate and safe water-rights the farmer is helpless."

The land offered by the Bitter Root Valley Irrigation Company complies in every particular with the rigid and very excellent rules laid down in the Saturday Evening Post. It is an ideal fruit land and will produce its cost each year after orchard maturity.

First. The soil contains no alkali, but all other necessary ingredients for ideal orchard land.

Second. Map of the Bitter Root Valley will show that a railroad (Northern Pacific) runs from one end to the other, traversing as nearly as possible the center. Traction lines will soon be built; electric lights, telephones and waterworks already installed.

Third. By reference to a Northern Pacific Railroad folder you will see the cities of Missoula, 18,000 with suburbs, and Hamilton, approaching 3,000, and a dozen other populous communities.

Fourth. The water supply is superabundant; our water-rights are secured by grants in perpetuity from the United States to maintain Lake Como in the Bitter Root forest reserve. We had sufficient water last summer to supply (in addition to enough to irrigate all our lands) a great lumber mill at Hamilton, which would have been shut down but for our neighborly assistance.

Thought for Today
 BY
MRS. ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE

A TERM OF CONGRESS.
 THE 4th of March is fixed in the mind of the American public as the day the President of the United States is inaugurated. The new Congressman is pleasantly reminded that his term also begins on that date, when he gets notice from the sergeant-at-arms that his first month's salary is due. But his constituents have no such reminder and often find it distracting to understand when their Congressman's term of office does begin and end.

It happened that the 4th of March, 1789, was the day fixed for the beginning of our government. But the constitution provided that Congress should meet on the first Monday in December, unless they fixed a different date. So in the absence of an "extra session," a Congressman begins in December with the "long session"—ten months of his term already expired—and ends with the "short session" a year from the following March.

It is well understood that Congress does little except "meet" in December because of the holidays. They get started in January and swelter during "long sessions" and "extra sessions" in the hot, debilitating Washington climate way into August.

October, November and December are cool, beautiful months, the best of the year for work. How much more rational for Congress to convene October 1, take a short recess at Christmas, and be ready to adjourn before the extremely hot weather.

This would fit into the school year and save so much worry in adjustment for the congressional children. And why should not the family be considered when there are no politics involved and every reason why the change should be made, and no reason why it should not, except—there is the rub—congressional inertia.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

YESTERDAY we had the long promised symposium of my letter friends' opinions on the kind of a woman a man likes best, and the opinions expressed were so interesting that I had to let them spill over into today's space.

Here is a description of an ideal of womanhood that sounds like to my Stevenson to hunt up his description of the ideal married life—"for the faults of married people continually spur up each of them, hour by hour, to do better, to meet and love upon a higher ground. And ever between the failures, there will come glimpses of kind virtues to cheer and encourage."

"My wife," says this idealist, "should be thoroughly domesticated, intensely fond of children and allied to the real home life; musical, interested in the best literature, very affectionate and ready to forgive; neat in dress and very exact as to boots and gloves; unselfish, broadly religious, with charity towards other creeds; fond of and willing to entertain guests; with a knife and fork always ready for 'strangers uninvited.' She must be a true life's partner who would tell me of my weaknesses and failures, and help me daily with her woman's intuition and prayers to overcome my many faults; who would make our lives happier, holier and better for our unity."

"A married woman" yesterday declared that men did not like a girl who held herself cheaply and declared that men would bear her out. There is one who does.

"My ideal woman must be neat, plain, sincere, cordial, generous, large hearted, with a kind, pleasing personality. She must be one who converses on what she has seen, not what she has heard or read. One whose life and character is unquestioned, one who has traveled and with sufficient vocabulary to express herself intelligently; an independent girl and not a flirt or a jolliter, and last but not least, a good plain cook who would try to please her husband."

I think this next man ought to get the exceedingly reasonable order that he puts in, filed. Don't you?

"Much depends on a man's nature as to what kind of a girl he likes. I have observed that intellectual men usually admire girls who possess good solid common sense, but not overburdened with knowledge; girls who can appreciate a serious conversation and still not be always appeals to a man's sense of humor. Furthermore, a sympathetic girl always appeals to a man, especially if her sympathy leans towards himself. Not too much spirit but some. Some self-control and not too eternally sweet; just a little capriciousness—that keeps him on the alert. Also one who can keep her spirit sweet and avoid all manner of petty anger. That is an ideal girl and an observant man can find her I am sure."

I asked especially for leaves from personal experience. Here is a rather and one:

"Up to twenty-five or thirty years of age the vivacious and the child dresser attracts a man, although not always without his having some feeling of fear. Men of this age ignore or are unconscious of the good and enduring qualities which make the woman estimable, companionable and lovable and also the qualities which produce the opposite effect."

"After that age, especially if they have been married, a man looks for and likes the woman who is not entirely selfish, who desires to see him happy, whose ideas are to help him and not simply to have him produce substance for her to devour. Then men want a perceptive mind and a woman loyal and not wholly self-sympathetic. As this is a leaf from my experience you will pardon me for signing my whole name."

Here is an infinitely sadder and yet at the same time infinitely happier experience.

"Judging by my experience, I like what I had—a woman who was gentle, affectionate (not effusive), considerate of everybody, respected during thirteen years of married life and revered now eight years after her death. She was a woman that everybody, relatives, acquaintances and servants, loved for her consideration towards others, a woman whom all children held out their arms to with smiles on their faces, a woman who went through child as well in spite of having seven of her own, a woman who loved every the terrible ordeals of motherhood with a smile on her face and without a whimper—a woman who was always at the door to greet me with a smile, no matter how trying her day had been—a woman for whom my first love turned into a holy love such as one generally gives one's mother."

I trust my own box have noticed that beauty has not once been mentioned as a necessary quality, that a sweet temper is generally demanded and that health, love of children, and domesticity are at premium.

pleasant solutions in the shop. Many of the pretty things, too, offered at high prices, could be easily much less expensive. The three smart novelties, in neckwear, here shown, are all easy to fashion, and effective and useful, when completed.

The first is a shaped number of tapestry, in a small Persian pattern. A border of about wadding, and a lining of satin, give it warmth and smartness, while three buttons covered with gold braid brighten it considerably.

The coat set, next shown, is designed to smarten up the plain tailored suit. It consists of a deep sailor collar and broad cuffs of white muslinette, hand-embroidered in rope silk in light and dark blue. Bands of dark blue messaline and frills of torchon lace finish the edges.

The neck bow is of black messaline, butterfly shape, with a center of black silk braid ornaments. Black velvet ties depend therefrom, and are knotted carefully, at about one-third their length, while their ends are finished with the ragnily popular silk fringe.

And of these bits of neckwear may easily be adapted and arranged in different colors, to suit various tastes and requirements.

SOME LUNCHEON DISHES.

Many luncheon dishes may be equally well served at night for supper when the noon meal is the dinner.

Tomato Bouillon.—Cook together a can of tomatoes, three pints of bouillon, a tablespoonful of chopped onion, a half of a bay leaf, six cloves, half a teaspoon of celery seed, half a teaspoon of pepper corns and cook twenty minutes. Strain, cool and clear. Add parboiled oysters, a pint, and serve in bouillon cups.

Potato Cones.—Season mashed potato with salt and pepper and finely chopper parsley. Moisten with cream or milk, then beat light and foamy. Mold in an ice cream dipper, place on buttered paper in a baking pan, brush with melted butter and brown in the oven.

Convent Pie.—Cook a cup of macaroni in boiling water until tender. Drain and rinse in cold water. Scald a cup of cream, add a cup of soft bread crumbs, a fourth of a cup of butter, pepper, salt, chopped parsley, onion juice and a teaspoonful of chopped green pepper, half a cup of grated cheese, three well-beaten eggs and the macaroni. Line a quart baking dish with buttered paper, turn in the mixture, set the pan on several folds of paper in a dish of water and bake a half to three-fourths of an hour. Serve with tomato sauce.

Marshmallow Salad.—Cut half a can of pineapple in small pieces. Cut a quarter of a pound of marshmallows in quarters, using the shears. Mix a half cup of whipped cream with a quarter of a cup of mayonnaise dressing and add to the other ingredients. Serve on lettuce leaves with salad dressing.

A delicious tea is prepared by cutting a third of an orange, put into a teapot with Cologne tea and four cups of boiling water. Let stand five minutes and serve with sugar, without cream.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

AN INTERNATIONAL PIG.

By A. W. MACY.

A little pig was once the cause of a difficulty between the United States and Great Britain, which for a time threatened war, and was finally settled by the Emperor of Germany. In the Gulf of Georgia, north of Puget Sound, is a little island named San Juan. In early days two men lived on this island, an American and an Englishman. Each was the owner of some hogs, and one day the Englishman shot one of the American's pigs. A dispute followed, and they decided to carry the matter to court. But which court, English or American? According to the northwest boundary settlement of 1846, the forty-ninth parallel was to be followed westward to the straits, when the channel was to be followed. But now the question rose, on which side of the island did the channel run, both routes being used?

Thus the matter assumed an international aspect, and soon troops of both nations occupied the island. For a time hostilities seemed imminent, but wiser counsels prevailed, and the question was referred to the German emperor, who decided in favor of the United States.

ELABORATE NEGLIGEE.

New York City, Nov.—Nothing conveys to the average feminine mind a greater suggestion of luxury than an elegant negligee.

And yet if one has the time and skill with the needle this is a luxury not beyond a moderate purse. The very elaborate negligee of rose colored crepe here shown is found upon close observation not so complicated in design after all as to be beyond the ability of the average seamstress.

It is only in the arrangement of the trimming that the garment achieves an effect of elaboration. Over the shoulders is a simulated hood of tucked pink chiffon edged with blue folds of the crepe and finishing in ornaments of rolled crepe cords with pendant tassels of pink silk. Feather stitching in silk marks the point where the sleeves are joined below the shoulders and bands of cream darned lace outlined with blue folds of crepe trim sleeves and fronts. The garment fastens its full length with loops of crepe cord passed over bulky buttons crepe covered. A breakfast cap of cream lace with pink bows would be charming with this negligee.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Looking For Good in Disaster.

WHEN disaster or misfortune of any kind overtakes us, we usually sit down among the ruins and bewail our fate. After awhile, we take up life again, but we trudge on dependently, or gloomily, or unhappily. All joy seems to have gone from living.

But why not, for the sake of experiment, if for no other reason, take a different viewpoint? Try it once, at any rate, and see what you thresh out of it. Instead of saying, "This thing that has come to me is trouble, is sorrow, is ill," say, "It is good." You'll be surprised at the different hue life takes on.

For it is good. Don't mistake that. And you can find the good if you look for it. It may take some time. Your eyesight for this sort of work may be poor. But you'll find it, if you seek sincerely.

Many will say that this isn't so, that they have had trouble and disaster in which could possibly be no good. But let's consider some of the things which overtake people which are looked upon as misfortune.

One girl's father failed in business, and she was compelled suddenly and with little preparation, to go out into the world and earn a living, not only for herself, but for her father and mother, for her father was old and could find nothing to do. The world looked on him as a failure and did not want him. She had been a society girl and had lived a butterfly existence. But today, she would not give the treasures she has gained of sympathy, of knowledge of human nature, of a bigger understanding of life, for the money and social position that were once hers. She says there is no comparison in the real joy of living between her present life and her former existence.

A woman lost a business position which she had held for many years and was compelled to go back to her country home and live rather a lonely life with her aged parents. For a while, she bitterly rebelled at the change in her circumstances. Then she began to look for the good. And into her life has come the joy of love which she never knew before in such full measure, the pleasure of making a happy, beautiful home. Her whole nature is softening and becoming more loving and gentle. And these are possessions of more value than the excitement and fleeting successes of a business day.

Another woman was suddenly crippled and compelled to spend her days and weeks and years upon a bed of suffering. But she is learning, as she lies there through lonely days and nights, the meaning of the soul life. She is gaining a knowledge of a new heaven and a new earth; she is beginning to know the immortal spirit within her. Before her accident, she had no time, in her busy, rushing life, for such things. But this knowledge which she is slowly gaining is more precious to her than anything else she could have.

It should not be necessary for us to have to learn things in this way. This good is all about us for our taking. But if we will not take it, then it is so necessary for us to have it, that it must, perhaps, assume the guise of some misfortune to wake us to see it.

So if disaster overtakes you, whether it is little or big, look for the good. Somewhere or other about it, is something to bring you joy. Where you have found the good, life will have a new meaning, and a greater happiness will fill your days.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

FISH INJURED IF ALLOWED TO DIE SLOWLY.

"Fish caught by the gills and allowed to die in the water by slow degrees, as in the case where gill nets are used, undergo decomposition very readily and are inferior as food," says a bulletin of the department of agriculture. "Fish are often landed alive," says this authority, "and allowed to die slowly. This custom is not only inhuman but lessens the value of the fish. I have frequently emphasized in these hints the necessity of care in the preparation of animal food. The frightening of cattle before they are killed and the swinging of poultry by the head and throwing them upon the ground to writhing develop toxins in the tissues."

FEATHER CRESTED HELMET HAT.

A small hat of black velvet in a helmet shape with a rather high crown sloping rather from a very short brim.

fascinated me with its unusualness of shape and trimming as I watched the promenade last Sunday. It was quiet and elegant despite its novelty being of simple black velvet with trimming of a pale, indefinable mode color. This trimming consisted of a single superb ostrich feather, very wide and full fluted, laid across the hat from side to side which was its widest dimension, by the way.

Mounted at the mid-rib of this ostrich plume was an upstanding crest of four rows of lacy gossamer feathers, imparting an effect of height. The brim was exceedingly narrow, a mere continuation of the crown, rolling just a trifle front and back.

A suit of black velvet fringe trimmed and a magnificent seal skin muff and wide throw completed a costume of perfect harmony and taste.

WHO WILL BE NAMED AS SEALER IN CITY?

MATTER CONFRONTS MAYOR WHO MUST APPOINT OFFICIAL FROM ELIGIBLE LIST.

FOUR WERE EXAMINED

Candidates Took Examination Before Civil Service Commissioners Nov. 11—Have Many Duties.

As soon as returns are received from the state civil service commission at Madison as to the standing of the four candidates who took the examinations for the office of City Sealer of Weights and Measures under the new law, it will be the duty of Mayor Nichols to make the appointment.

Those who wrote on the questions submitted as candidates for the office in Janesville before Examiner John Arbutnot on Nov. 11, were: John Richardson, J. M. Thayer, Henry Kuchin and James Ryan. Under the rules of the commission the mayor has a right to a list of three from which to choose.

From correspondence received at the office of the state dairy and food commissioner, and as a result of a recent tour of the state by the Chief Inspector of Weights and Measures, it is stated that there exists considerable misapprehension as to the nature and scope of the duties of the City Sealer of Weights and Measures, the appointment of which is made mandatory by the Wisconsin new weights and measures law upon the mayors of cities containing more than 5,000 population.

Duties Are Increased.

Under the old law, which employed a fee system and which as to its operation became practically a dead letter, the duty of the Sealer of Weights and Measures was limited to the testing and sealing of scales and beams and weights and measures, at certain intervals, usually once a year. But, under the provisions of the amended weights and measures law of 1911, the nature and scope of the duties of the City Sealer of Weights and Measures of the city have been greatly changed, the testing and sealing of weights and measures being but a part of the work. The weights and measures law is not limited to the use of incorrect instruments, but extends to the incorrect use of correct instruments.

Commissioner J. Q. Emory invites careful attention of the mayor and common council to the duties of the City Sealer of Weights and Measures, proscribed by the state legislature, and particularly as published on pages 5 and 6 of the booklet containing the laws of Wisconsin relating to weights and measures, issued by the state superintendent of weights and measures; also to the law which the City Sealer is required to enforce, as published in sections 432 of the statutes, pages 12, 13 and 14 of that booklet.

Demand Correct Usage.

It will be observed that it is made the duty of the City Sealer of Weights and Measures not only to inspect and seal weights and measures used in trade in the city and condemn or seal the same according to their condition, but to see to it that the scales and measures when correct shall be correctly used. This law requires constant testing and reweighing of packages put up for delivery to see that the weight and the quantity paid for correspond.

The Sealer is to respond to complaints made by citizens of the city. He is to weigh loads of coal that are being delivered to see that the purchaser is receiving full weight for the money paid. He is required to check up the ice man, the milk man, the coal man, and all peddlers and vendors.

It is likewise his duty to see that the city gets its full quota when buying coal for its public buildings, hay and feed for its horses and all other supplies. Briefly, he must see that the short-weight evils that now exist, due to lack of regulation, be reduced to a minimum.

Room and Equipment.

To perform such work with thoroughness requires that the Sealer devote his entire time to the office and that he be provided with a proper room and the necessary outfit. For the testing of heavy wagon scales, he should have at his command the necessary weights and means of conveyance.

The problem is, where can the proper person for such an important public office, one of the most important in any city, be found and what can be done to induce efficient men to apply?

It is apparent that this office, which is a public trust, and which involves the demand of honest business and the purchasing public for square dealing, requires that the City Sealer of Weights and Measures shall be a

BREAKS UP A COLD IN SEVERAL HOURS

Most effective and harmless way to cure a severe cold and end all Gripe misery.

There is not one grain of quinine in Pape's Cold Compound, which, when taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will surely end the gripe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable neuralgia pains, headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, catarrhal affections, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges. Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or gripe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or gripe misery so promptly and without any other resistance or bad after-effects as a 25 cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

person of intelligence, integrity, vigor, sobriety, and good judgment. To secure the services of such a person, the salary should be made adequate. It cannot be expected that a low-grade salary can command a high-grade man.

An efficient Sealer of Weights and Measures can save to the city as a corporation, and to the purchasing public of the city very many times the cost of the administration of the office. The legislature of the state has placed a very comprehensive law with the expectation that the mayor and aldermen as the servants of all the people, will adequately provide for its efficient enforcement.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

By Howard L. Rann. Shakespeare.

William Shakespeare, whose name will be familiar to a good many of our readers, was a well-known author who flourished in the Elizabethan era. He was the son of a justice of the peace, but as he did not mention it in any of his writings it has never influenced the sale of his books.

William was given an early start in literature by being apprenticed to a butcher, from whom he gained much of the language used in his plays. He later became the driver of a bus, which caused the envious-minded of the day to refer to him as a "literary hack."

Tiring of this, he accepted a flattering offer from a leading stock company, taking tickets at the door and doubling as the ghost in "Hamlet." All this time Shakespeare was doing a little desultory writing, amounting to about three reams of foolscap per day. He would go out and do the chores and then come into the house and tear off an ode to somebody. Shakespeare was so full of ideas that he never got entirely out of debt until he began to sell his books on the subscription plan. Several years after Shakespeare died it was discovered that as a matter of fact he never wrote anything but I. O. U.s and due bills, and that Lord Bacon was the author of everything attributed to him that didn't have to be mutilated before being admitted to the mails. A great many people believed this and immediately took Shakespeare's bust off the parlor mantel and put it in the fire!

Considerable coldness sprang up between Shakespeare and his wife on account of her refusal to accept the presidency of the C. L. S. C., her excuse being that one celebrity in the family was enough, and thereafter whenever Shakespeare went away on a trip his correspondence was confined to sovereign postal cards and night letters telling where to forward his mail. Shakespeare died leaving an immortal memory and an epitaph which is a good sample of reformed spelling.

NOT SALTS, OIL OR PILLS, BUT CASCARETS

No odds how sick your Stomach; how hard your head aches or how Bilious—Cascarets make you feel great.

You men and women who somehow can't get feeling right—who have an almost daily headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and under-bored with a sick, easy, disordered stomach or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets, or merely forcing a purgative every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, removing the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out, by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

Schlitz beer from common beer.

We use the costliest materials—we age Schlitz for months to prevent biliousness—it will not ferment in your stomach.

Schlitz is sent to you in Brown Bottles, thus protecting Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

Without all these precautions no beer can be healthful, and who knowingly would drink beer that was not?

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

STRIPPING OF CROP HAS ALREADY BEGUN

Caring Weather of Past Week Has Been Sufficient For Farmer to Take Down Tobacco.

Some of the growers in Rock county have already begun stripping their 1911 crop of tobacco following the caring weather of the past week. Those who took advantage of the several moist days were not many, however, as the majority preferred to have the leaf in better condition.

There has been some activity in buying what remains uncontracted for in this region. Prices are fairly well maintained in most cases, ranging from seven to nine cents. There are a number of good crops which remain uncontracted, although the number of these is fast being reduced.

There has been but little trading in the old leaf in the local market, although several consignments have been shipped to buyers in eastern points within the past few days. This is a season of quiet and preparation pending the opening of sorting and packing operations.

ANNUAL LAKOTA CLUB BALL DECEMBER 26

Plans Discussed at Meeting Held at Club Rooms Saturday Night.

—New Officers Elected.
The Lakota Club will give its annual ball on the evening of December 26, in Assembly Hall. Plans for the dance were discussed at the monthly meeting held in the club rooms in the Jackson block Friday night. Hatch's eight-piece orchestra will be secured as musicians. A committee was named to decorate the hall for the occasion.

A new member, Reno Koch, was taken into the club and officers were elected. Those elected were George Sonnet, president; P. Hammerlund, vice president; Robert Clithero, financial secretary; Oscar Yahn, recording secretary.

A D'Artagnan Statue.

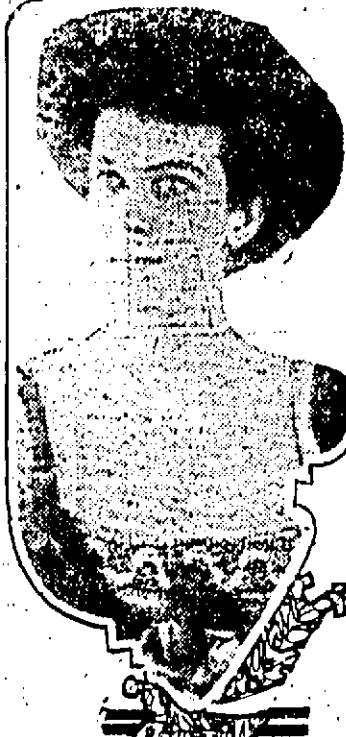

All readers of the "Three Musketeers" and admirers of D'Artagnan (and who does not admire him?) will be glad to hear that a statue is to be raised to their hero. It is to be placed at Gers in Gascony, which is perhaps rather far afield, but then D'Artagnan was, of course, a Gascon. We agree with M. Paul Glinety in the debate that the pedestal of the statue, at least, should have a medallion of the charming M. Bonnelux. M. Glinety tells us that D'Artagnan was drawn from life. There was a certain Charles de Batz-Castellmore, Seigneur d'Artagnan, who played a heroic part in the wars of Louis XIV., and Dumas took his hero from this character. The real D'Artagnan fought in a prodigious number of campaigns and was employed on secret missions by Richelieu and Louis XIV. Finally he was killed at the siege of Mincourt, just when his fortune was at its height. There is not, we think, any evidence in Dumas' book that our hero ever married. But the real D'Artagnan married and made a sad mess of it, for he had a very jealous wife. It is possible that posterity would never have heard of this charming adventurer if it had not been for Dumas.

Now Is the Accepted Time.

This is the high tide of the year; enjoy it while you may, for presently the flood of new life will halt, all verdure grow rusty, and another measure of your existence, another one of your beautifully given chances to do something to warrant your being on this good earth at all, will have gone forever.—Boston Globe.

Aunt Jemimah in Court.

Vanderhoof, the lawyer, tells of an honest old negro woman who had come from the court house. "Good morning, Aunt Jemimah, what have you been doing in court?" With much hauteur she replied: "One o' my friends jes' had a case to do judge, an' I've been down to gib my testimony."

MARY SOUTHERLAND

TO MARRY BOSTON BROKER.
Miss Mary Southernland, daughter of Admiral and Mrs. Southernland of Washington whose engagement to marry Louis Bacon a wealthy Boston broker is announced. Miss Southernland is very prominent socially here and there were rumors of her engagement to Frank H. Hitchcock, the Postmaster General and one of Washington's most eligible bachelors last winter.

The Gun Badge.

The Alabama legislature will presently consider a bill providing that any person who carries a pistol must take out a license and wear a metal badge with the word "Armed" thereon.

LEAN ONE:—"YOU LOOK VERY PROSPEROUS SINCE YOU GOT YOUR NEW JOB." FAT CHAUFER:—"YES, I RUN OVER AT LEAST THREE CHICKENS A DAY."

STRANGER:—"IS THERE A LAW IN THIS TOWN AGAINST SELLING LIQUOR ON SUNDAY?" OLD RESIDENT:—"YES, BUT DON'T LET THAT WORRY YOU MY FRIEND; THERE'S NO LAW AGAINST BUYING IT."

Proof Positive.
"Mother," said Harold, "I've been out to the barn and taken all the shoes off the horse."
"Now, Harold," said his mother, "you are telling me a wrong story, and I shall punish you."
"No, truly, I have," persisted Harold. "I took them off, and then I put them on again. If you don't believe it, you can go out and look for your self."—Harper's Magazine.

The Canceled Sort.
The man who doth well please himself—Oh, listen to me, brothers—When he's blest with brains and wit, Off grates upon all others.

YOU WANT A POSITION IN OUR HOUSE, IN WHAT CAPACITY? SON-IN-LAW, IF YOU HAVE NO OBJECTION.

Forehanded.
Magazine Editor—This is a splendid story, but I never heard of the author before; did you?
Assistant—Never. Shall I send it back?
Magazine Editor—No. Put it away until he becomes famous.

Confused Narrative.
"Billings is the most careless fisherman I ever saw."
"Doesn't he have any luck?"
"Certainly not. Why, in fixing up stories to tell his friends, he doesn't even take the trouble to find out what kind of fish swim in the waters he visits."

Take No Chances.
The married life doth lessons teach And we infer, No prudent wife would ask a "pench" To visit her.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, Dec. 4, 1871.—General Chester A. Arthur, the newly appointed collector of the port of New York, assumed his duties Saturday night.

The weather went down to six degrees below zero this morning at Webb's corner and ten degrees below on the hill in the eastern portion of the city. December has scored low numbers so far but we have the promise of a reliable prophet that it will reach higher figures as the holidays approach.

Charles Holt, formerly of the Gazette, has been elected president of the company organized to conduct the type foundry printing establishment in Chicago owned before the fire by Rourke & Kane. Mr. Holt will continue the publication of the Kanakoo Gazette.

Christ Church Social Union will give their usual entertainment to morrow (Tuesday) evening at Apollo hall. The annual election of officers will take place immediately before the literary and musical entertainment. Members are requested to be present at seven o'clock.

The old people of Janesville and vicinity will hold a religious conference in the basement of the Baptist church, Sunday, Dec. 10, at 2 o'clock. Seats free.

Advisers from below Quebec report that the river is choked with ice, and that great damage has been done to the shipping. Many vessels have been abandoned and the crews rescued in a frozen condition.

The West Wisconsin railroad has been finished to Hudson, on the St. Croix river, the passenger train passing over the road on the 29th of November.

Taxes in Madison this year are three per cent and in Oshkosh two and one half per cent.

ONE STEP TOO FAR.
She told me to fly, and I flew. She begged me to lie, and I lied. I'll allow her to talk me, But if she should ask me To do I'll be damned if I dew!

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher
Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams
BY WALT MASON

The man whose appetite is fine, who can, when he sits up to dine dispose of sundry chops or steaks, and finish up on pies and cakes, who goes clean through the bill of fare before he rises from his chair—that man should envy none on earth—the gods.

THE GOOD were smiling at his APPETITE birth! He may be doomed to humble toil to pushing plowshares through the soil, to packing swill for hungry swine, to sawing horns from muley cows, to digging gumbos in a ditch—but he can view the idle rich, and he can look on sceptered kings, and say: "I'm better off, by Jingo! For what avails all wealth or pomp if one is not inspired to romp, when sounds, the gladsome dinner horn? I'd rather chew an ear of corn, or eat a shoulder of a ham, or fill myself with prunes and jam, and know I can digest the same, than bust in wealth or roll in fame." This world with sorrow is replete for those who vince when they must eat, who have to exercise the jaw on protracted chop and straw, who look with horror on a roast, as though it was their father's ghost. But life is full of wholesome gloom for him whose stomach, bold and true, is always ready for a chore, takes what it gets and looks for more.

Not Brain Taxing.
"Myrtle Reed," said a Chicago member of the Illinois Women's Press association, "found few things that measured up to her high standard. She was especially down on the magazines. One day, I remember—" The woman journalist smiled. "I remember meeting her just after she had recovered from an illness. She told me she had worked all through her illness. She said that, on his first visit, the doctor had declared: "'Now, remember, no brain work!' "But, doctor," she had remonstrated, "I have a contract with a magazine to turn out three magazine love stories this week. Must I break it?" "Oh, no," said the doctor, "Oh, no; you needn't break it."—Los Angeles Times.

Brazilian Jewel Weighs 243 Pounds.
Jewel experts throughout the world have been thrown into a state of excitement by the appearance of a beryl that weighs 243.1 pounds, and is 18.9 inches high, and from 15.75 inches to 16.5 inches in width. This is the largest beryl ever found, and is reported to have been sold by its finder for nearly $25,000. The beryl was picked up by a Turk in the state of Minas Gernas, Brazil. Its color is a greenish blue, and it is absolutely free from impurities. It is estimated that this one crystal will furnish at least 200,000 carats of jewels of various sizes.

To Detect Presence of Chloery.
Pure ground coffee will not discolor cold water until it has been soaked for some time, while the addition of chloery as an adulterant will immediately impart a brownish hue.

Need Eight Hours of Sleep.
Women of a nervous temperament should have eight hours of sleep to keep in good health.

Norway's Wooden Churches.
Some of the wooden churches of Norway are fully 700 years old and are still in an excellent state of preservation. Their timbers have successfully resisted the frosty and almost Arctic winters because they have been repeatedly coated with tar.

Worries of Parents.
After a boy has had the scarlet fever, the chicken pox, the mumps, the measles, the whooping cough, and two or three holis, his parents, as a rule, don't have anything else to worry about until he falls in love.—Somerville Journal.

Not Always.
Guns—Good heavens! Does your chauffeur always speed like this? Harp—No. Sometimes the car breaks down.—Harper's Bazar.

Mottel's Hair Tonic keeps the scalp in a healthy condition, prevents the hair from falling out, restores it to its natural color and used regularly keeps the hair soft and fluffy. Reliable Drug Co.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Oh, what a disappointment for Mother, and Christmas so near!

The KINGDOM of SLENDER SWORDS by HALLIE ERMINE RIVES

Copyright, 1910, by the Bobbe-Merrill Company

"That is a love poem," he answered. "You know a Japanese poem has only thirty-one syllables. You find them everywhere and on everything, from a screen to a fire shovel. I've seen them printed on toothpicks. Your husband composes them as he brings the fish from market, and your amah writes them at night by a frothy lantern."

"Can you read it?"

He translated: "I thought my love's long hair drooped down from the gate of the sky, but it was only the shadow of evening."

"How delicately pretty!" she exclaimed. "It's written in kana, the sound-alphabet, isn't it?"

"Yes. How much you have learned already."

"Hara has begun teaching me. Let me show you my proficiency." She took his pencil and wrote:

Font

"There! Who would guess that was Japanese for 'Daunt!' And what an impression you must have made on Hara for her to select your name as my first lesson!"

Across the soft shoo-shoo of spotted, tabi clad feet, the sitting of bright hued kimono, the gay badinage that flew about the low tables, Daunt felt her beauty thrill him from head to foot like a garment of mist and fire. As she dropped her hand to the cushion it had touched his, and for an instant their pulses had seemed to throb into one. The tiny lacquered cup she took up trembled in her fingers.

She started when the young army officer nearest her said: "Speaking of sailing, give me a steam yacht like the one that birthed yesterday at Yokohama. She belongs to a man named Ware, Austen Ware, a New Yorker, I understand. Perhaps you know him, Miss Fairfax?"

"I have not him," she answered. "The young army officer looked up quickly. He was an enthusiastic yachtsman. 'A beautiful vessel!' he said. 'I noticed her today, but she was too far away to make out her name.'"

"It is the Barbara," said Voynich. "Why," exclaimed Patricia, "that's—She bit her tongue, caught by something in Barbara's face. 'Good gracious!' she ended. 'My—my foot's asleep!'"

Barbara had felt her flush fading to paleness. She felt a quick relief that none there save Patricia and Daunt knew her first name. In the diversion caused by Patricia's helpless efforts to stand up she stole a glance at Daunt.

A shadow had fallen on his face. He did not look at her, but in his brain the yacht's name was ringing like a knell. She knew Phil's brother! Austen Ware's yacht had arrived in Yokohama on the same day as her ship. And it was named the Barbara. Yet tonight he had dreamed—what had he been dreaming? These thoughts mixed themselves weirdly with the gaiety and nonsense that he forced himself to render.

Barbara felt this with an aching sense of resentment. What was he thinking of her? And why should she care so fiercely? The lightness and blitheness of the scene were somehow chilled.

CHAPTER XIV.

LIKE THE WHIMPER OF A BAT'S WINGS, THE street into which they trooped seemed an oriental opera bouffe—awakening, chatting people in loose, light colored kimono, some carrying crested paper lanterns, some to the ends of short rods, and thousand lights and lines flashing and weaving. But for two of the party the colors had lost their warmth and the movement had lost their variety.

"I simply can't catch up yet in a rickshaw!" pleaded Patricia as they donned their discarded shoes. "Why not walk a little?" The proposal met with a chorus of approval. They set out together, and presently Barbara found Daunt beside her. Her resentment did not cool as she laughed and talked mechanically, acutely aware that he was answering in monosyllables or with silence.

Daunt was crying out upon himself for a fool. What right had he to feel that hot sting in his heart? Yesterday morning he had not known that she existed. If an hour ago the skies had been golden sprinkled azure and Tokyo's capital of an empire of romance it was only because he was a boyish, silly dolt, sick with vanity and complacency. What had there been between them, after all, save a light camaraderie into which a man was untrustworthy to read more? So he passed on, achingly cognizant of the lapses in his conversation, quite unconscious that her own was growing more forced and strained.

The boy too, behind them, spoke his name. Daunt started with a stab of recollection and drew from his pocket a folded pink paper fastened with a blue seal.

"How stupid of me! My wife has gone—wool-gathering tonight. Here is a telegram for you. It came soon after we left the embassy, and Mrs. Dandridge, thinking it might be urgent, sent it to after us to the tea house. He missed us, but saw me here on his way back."

Barbara broke the seal and held the message to the candlelight that shone from a low temple entrance. She did not notice at the moment that it was the temple of the Fox-God whose name she had that evening denied. She had guessed who was the sender, and the knowledge fell like a cool, faithful hand on her mood.

And, alas, on Daunt's also, for as she turned the leaf his gaze, wandering through the temple doorway to the candle-stirring mirror above the tithe box, had unwittingly seen reflected there in the painfully exact chirography of a Japanese telegraph clerk the signature on the other side of Tokyo that night Dr. Hersonin sat with Phil in his great laboratory. Dinner had been laid on a round table at one end of the room. This was now pushed into a corner. They sat in deep leather chairs with slim liquor glasses of green creme de menthe on a stand between them, with a moth-lamp and cigars.

Phil had lamp and once rolled his glasses from the straw braided long necked vessel at his elbow. He was restless and ill at ease.

During the dinner, served at 10, conversation had been desultory, full of lapses, broken only by the plaintive chirp of the bliva from its corner. When the cigars and cordial had been brought by the silent footed Ishida, Hersonin had risen to draw the curtain closely over the window and to lock the door. When he came back he stood before the mantelpiece, his arm laid along it, looking down from his towering height on the other's unquiet hand playing with the chain of the spirit lamp. His face was very white. Phil drew a long, slow breath and looked up.

Hersonin spoke. His voice was cold and measured; the only sign of agitation was in the slow, spasmodic working of the great white fingers against the dark wood.

"I have brought you here tonight," he said, "to make you a proposition. I have need of help—of a kind that you can give me. It will require certain qualities which I think you possess—qualities which we possess in common, I have chosen you because you have daring and because you are not troubled by what the coward calls conscience—that fool's duty for fear!"

Phil touched his dry lips with his tongue. "I have as little of that as the next man," he replied. "I never found I needed much."

Hersonin continued: "What I have to say I can say without misgiving, for if you told it before the fact there is possibly but one man in Japan who would think you sane, and if you told it after—well, for your own safety you will not tell it then. Your acceptance of my proposition will have a definite effect on your prospects, which, I believe, can scarcely be looked on as bright."

Phil uttered an oath. "You need not remind me of that," he said, with surly emphasis. "I've got about as much prospect as a coolie stevedore. Well, what of it?"

The cold voice went on, and now it had gathered a sneer: "You are twenty-three, educated, good-looking, with the best of life before you, but dependent on the alacrity charity of a rich brother for the very bread you eat. Even here, on this skirt of the world where pleasures are cheap, it is only by dint of debt that you keep your head above water. Now your sedate relative has come to sit in judgment on your past year. What does he care for your private tastes? What will he do when he hears of the golden suppers and the chic at the club and the roulette table at the bungalow? Increase that generous stipend of yours? I fancy not."

Phil lit a cigar with a hand that shook. The doctor's contemptuous words had roused a tingling anger that mixed with the alcohol in his blood. He, with the tastes of a gentleman, as poor as a temple rat, while his brother yelled around the globe in his steam yacht! He saw his allowance cut off—his himself driven to the cheap expedients of the band beach comb, cringing for a yen from men who had won his hundreds at the float or perhaps sitting on an underclerk's stool in some genteel counting house, shabby settled, adding figures from 8 in the morning to 5 at night. No more laughing Japanese faces and tinted fingers, no more stolen kisses in bamboo lanes, no more Haru!

He struck the stand with his fist. "And if I agree," he said thickly, "what then?"

Hersonin leaned forward. "I have talked of money. I will show you a quick way to gain it—not by years, but by days—wealth such as you have never dreamed, enough to make your brother poor beside you. Not only money, but power and place and honors. Is the stake big enough to play for?"

Phil stared at him, fascinated. "What do you—want me to do?" He almost gasped the words.

The expert looked him in the eye a full moment in silence, his fingers crawling and twitching. Then with a quick, leopard-like movement he went to the wall safe, opened it and took out what seemed a square metal box. In its top was set an indicator, like the range finder of a camera. Its very touch seemed to melt his icy control. His pulses dashed; his hand trembled as he set it upon the knob.

"Wait!" he said. "Wait!"

He looked swiftly about the room. His eye rested on the bamboo cage, and a quick gleam shot across his face. He opened the wire door, and the little bird hopped to his finger. He moved a metal rack to the very center of the desk and perched the tiny creature on it. It burst into song, warbling full throat, tucked with melody. Hersonin set the metal cage a little distance away and adjusted it with minutest care.

"Sing, Dick," he cried loudly—"sing, sing!"

The song stopped. There had come a thrill to the air, a puff of icy wind on Phil's face, a thin chilling like a fairy cymbal. Phil sprang up with a cry. The fluffy ball, with its metal perch, had utterly disappeared; only in the center of the desk was a pinch of reddish brown powder like the dust of an emery wheel, laid in feathery whorls.

He stared transfixed. "What does it mean?" he asked hoarsely.

The doctor's voice leaped now with an evil exultation. "It means that I, Hersonin, have found what physicians have dreamed of for fifty years. I have solved the secret of the love and hatred of atoms. That box is the harness of a force beside which the angles of modern war are children's toys."

He grasped Phil's arm with a force that made him wince. The amber eyes glittered.

"At first I planned to sell it to the highest bidder among the powers. I was a fool to think of that. The nation that buys it to guard the secret for itself must wall me in a fortress."

That would be the reward of Hersonin—the great Hersonin, had he wrested from nature the most subtle of her secrets. But I am too clever for that. It must be I—alone—who holds the key! It shall bring the many things, but the first of these is money. I must have funds—unlimited funds. The money—funds—except as a stopping stone, but the money you love and must have. Well, I offer it to you!"

Phil's heart was beating hard. The tension of the room had increased; a hundred suffocating atmospheres seemed pressing on it. "How—how?" he stammered.

Hersonin took a paper from his pocket, unfolded it and laid it on the stand. It was a chart of Yokohama harbor. A red square was drawn in the margin, and from this a fine, needle-like ray pointed out across the air-charge. With his pencil the doctor wrote two words on the red square—"The float."

FOR TONA VITA

Cleveland People Are Strong In Their Praise For New Medicine.

John Cole, of 2812 Trenton St., made the following statement recently in connection with "Tona Vita," the medicine that is now being introduced with such great success in Cleveland.

Mr. Cole said: "I have been sick for nine years; have been nervous and run down, and have had constant stomach trouble and indigestion. I have never known just what was the matter with me. I slept poorly, and my sleep did me little good. I felt tired out most of the time, and was always nervous and despondent. I seldom had a good appetite and when I would eat, felt bloated from gas, and would taste the food for hours afterwards. For three years rheumatism has bothered me all the time, and at times caused me much pain."

"I got some 'Tona Vita' ten days ago and have taken it regularly since; there is no other medicine equal to it; the first dose helped me; every day I have become stronger and better. I now feel as well as I did ten years ago. I seem to get nourishment from my food, and no longer have stomach trouble or feel so tired and despondent. The rheumatic pains have left me and I feel like a different person in every way. I am 64 years old, and think it wonderful to have got back my health at this age after being sick so long."

The physicians who are introducing "Tona Vita" in Cleveland are giving demonstrations of what the medicine will do in five minutes, and the Cleveland public are flocking to the store where they are located. One of the physicians said: "Tona Vita" will break all records in this country; people are just beginning to realize what a great preparation it is. It is here in Cleveland. Thousands upon thousands in this and other large cities are afflicted with general debility. The entire system becomes affected in such cases and rheumatism, stomach trouble, headache, backache, despondency and loss of vitality result. "Tona Vita" will work wonders in such cases in a remarkably short time."

Smith Drug Co. have secured the agency for "Tona Vita" in Janesville and now have the remarkable tonic for sale.

ROYAL F. C. STOPS CLEVER SCHEME TO EVADE WHISKY TAX.

Washington, D. C. Royal F. Cabell, commissioner of Internal Revenue has put tobacco whiskey under the ban of the Revenue Service. These tax-lets were invented by a bright Westerner who thought to get around paying the revenue tax in this manner. Mr. Cabell had them analyzed and found that they were composed of whiskey and glycerin. He ruled that they should carry the revenue stamp just the same as whiskey in any form.

French Revolutionary Anniversary.

Today being the anniversary of the massacre of the Carmelite priests of September, 1792, the crypt of their church in the Rue de Valenciennes was thrown open to visitors, and those who liked might gaze on the piled up bones and skulls that are arranged so neatly in the red draped chapel beneath the great jet black crown of thorns. Much of the beautiful garden of the Carmelite convent still remains, and the building itself has not been altered. Its picturesque facade looks upon the pleasant orchard where apples and pears are ripening in the sun and where white and yellow water lilies grow freely in the small circular pool.—Paris correspondence London Evening Standard.

LIVELY SESSION OF CONGRESS PREDICTED

(Continued from page 1.) The Sherman anti-trust law. The most recent bill was drafted by Representative Henry, of Texas, providing for a permanent committee to investigate the trust laws and to eliminate from the Sherman law the "rule of reason" as interpreted by the Supreme Court. Some sort of bill is certain to come from the committee bearing on this problem. In the Senate the trust question is under consideration in the hearings before the committee on Interstate Commerce which will continue for some time.

In line with the trust question will be the determination of the fate of the House special committee of inquiry into the United States Steel Corporation. The steel corporation has protested against continuation of the hearing in view of the ruling of the government against it. The question is certain to be brought up in the House for settlement within a few days and it will provoke a lively controversy.

As a part of the trust legislative plan President Taft has suggested a federal incorporation act. He has stated his belief that a statute might be drawn—not as an amendment to the anti-trust law—but to furnish protection which would induce companies engaged chiefly in interstate trade to agree to government supervision of their transactions.

The National Monetary Commission will submit the report of its long and exhaustive inquiry by January 8. The Central reserve bank plan advocated by former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, has been practically unanimously endorsed by the American Bankers' Association. Currency reform, however, probably will develop many differing opinions before any legislation is enacted.

Of unusual interest in the Senate will be the continuance of the inquiry into the right of Senator Larnier, of Illinois, to retain his seat. Hearings in the case which have been going on in Chicago since October will be resumed here tomorrow (December 5).

Conservation policies are to be urged on Congress. Included in this are water power, coal, phosphate, oil and gas and other resources. Early in the session the National Waterways Commission will report recommendations. A report also will be made by the Reclamation Commission relating to railroads and bonds and the special Postal Commission which has held sessions in Washington, New York and St. Louis also will report. The Employers Liability Commission has formulated a report to submit to Congress.

Lively discussions are expected in both houses on the Immigration laws, the abrogation of the treaty of 1823 between the United States and Russia, campaign publicity, and a bill proposing legislative power to be conferred upon the Territory of Alaska. An effort also may be made to abolish the new court of Commerce.

The personnel of the House and Senate has changed somewhat, the democrats of the House having gained one more in their majority. There are five members of the House, Daniel V. Stephens (Dem.), of Nebraska; Joseph A. Tugart (Dem.), of Kansas; Kenneth D. McKellar (Dem.), of Tennessee; W. D. H. Almy (Rep.), of Pennsylvania; and William J. Browning (Rep.), of New Jersey.

There is one vacancy in the House caused by the death of Representative E. H. Madison (Rep.), of Kansas. "Obadiah Gardner, of Maine, succeeds, the late Senator Frye, in the Senate, and Hoke Smith, comes to the Senate from Georgia. Renewal of the effort to elect a president pro tempore of the Senate in place of Mr. Frye will be made. Senator Bacon was the leading candidate of the democrats and Senator Gallinger, the leader of the regular republicans at the last session. Senator Clapp was the choice of the insurgent republicans.

In the House an interesting feature of the session in all probability will be the abolition of the secret caucus by the democratic majority.

Economy will continue to be the democratic "watchword" in the House. In this connection all the investigations into government departments by the House committees on expenditures are to be continued and strong lines of economy for each department of the government.

"Economy it is said also will guide the Appropriations Committee, the first democratic committee in many years to get a "whack" at the big appropriation supply bills including the so-called "pork-barrels." Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, is the chairman of the committee which will undertake the task of paring down the appropriations which for the year of 1911-1912 amounted to $1,020,387,606.81.

SCHAFFNER TO HOLD AUCTION ON FRIDAY

Hanover Man Who Lost Heavily in Cyclone to Sell What Live Stock He Has This Week Friday.

S. J. Schaffner of Hanover, whose buildings were entirely swept down by the recent storm will sell his live stock at auction on Friday at the Hanover stock yards.

Mr. Schaffner in speaking of some of the peculiar features of the storm, said that both himself and man, Mr. Lehman, were in the barn and just starting for the house when the door blew open. He braced himself to hold it and the whole side of the barn went out, taking him with it—falling as though he were being sucked up in the air, he came down without much jar and was uninjured. Lehman was not hurt and the three women and baby in the house blown out and under protecting timbers, with injury to only one—Mrs. Lehman. Eight horses were in the barn. Two killed and two seemingly all right, were afterward found badly hurt from splinters which had been driven into their bodies and it was necessary to kill them. A Holstein bull was also in the barn and he was found several yards away uninjured. He must have been rolled over several times in the blow up.

LIST OF PRESIDENTS RECORDED IN RHYME

Easy to Remember and Suitable for Use in Every Household—Written by Mrs. Lizzie A. Lucy.

Have you ever tried to remember the names of the presidents of the United States in the order of their terms? If so, you have doubtless started off glibly enough with George Washington and after naming one or two, stopped short. Long, long ago there was a rhyme about the kings of England that helped students of English history to remember the names. Nothing had ever been attempted of this kind until Mrs. Lizzie A. Lucy of this city composed the following little rhyme which is so suitable for the needs that it is reprinted.

Mrs. Lucy sent a copy of this rhyme to President Taft and former President Roosevelt and from both received an acknowledgment. The press of the country took it up, but only published a portion of the rhyme so this is the first time it ever appeared in print in its entirety.

United States' Presidents in Rhyme.
First, Washington of immortal fame;
To succeed him good John Adams came;

Then Thomas Jefferson, well-known was he
As the type of official simplicity.

James Madison, in 1809,
Was fourth in the presidential line,

And James Monroe, in '17,
Was one of the best the land has seen.

Another Adams, this J. Q.,
The son of Adams, No. 2,

Was called to show what he could do,
Brave Andrew Jackson, in '29;

He came of a famous fighting line,
Next Martin Van Buren, of Kinderhook,

Presidential duties undertook,
Harrison, Tyler, and James K. Polk,

All came of honest, loyal folk,
Next Zachary Taylor, in '48,

Was chosen to guide the ship of state,
Under Fillmore and Franklin Pierce,

Sectional feeling was growing fierce,
So that James Buchanan, elected next,

Found the nation with vital questions vexed,
Then appeared Lincoln, serene and grand,

The best-beloved in all the land,
Who fell by an assassin's hand,

Andrew Johnson filled out his term;
He was undiplomatic but brave and firm.

His successor was one devoid of cant;
That silent soldier, U. S. Grant,

Then Hayes; then Garfield. The latter's fate
Was to fall the victim of Anarchist hate,

Chester A. Arthur took his place,
And discharged its duties with courtly grace.

Then Grover Cleveland, the democrat;
Next Benjamin Harrison; after that Cleveland was called again to the fore,
And filled the office four years more.
This brings us down to McKinley's date.
Our loved and martyred chief magistrate,
Then came one dear to the people's heart
Who proved resourceful from the start;
Who with large questions had always dealt—
Genial Theodore Roosevelt.
After him the chair was filled
By one in administration skilled;
An honest man, devoid of craft;
Opposed to trusts and spoils and graft—
Our present chieftain, good Bill Taft.
